

Configuring RealOne for Mac OS X

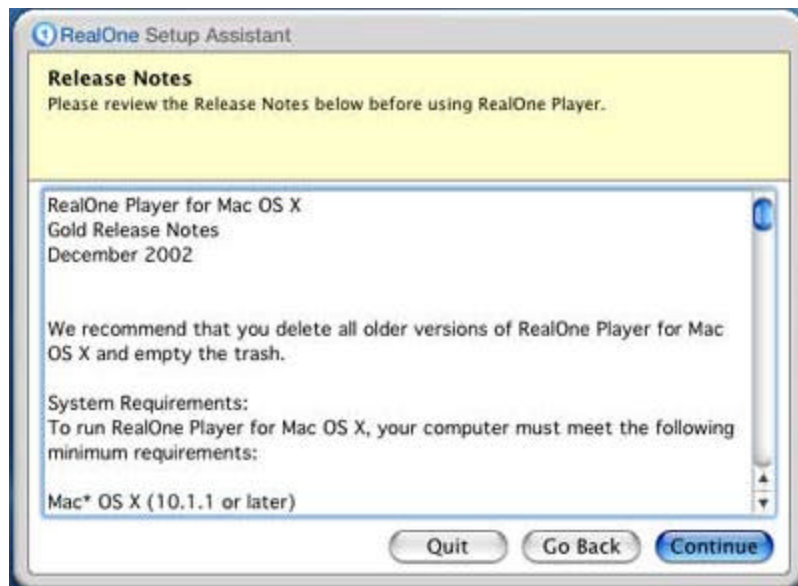

To obtain RealOne software, go to www.real.com and download the installation file.

After it has downloaded, find the file on your computer and double-click the icon shown to the left.

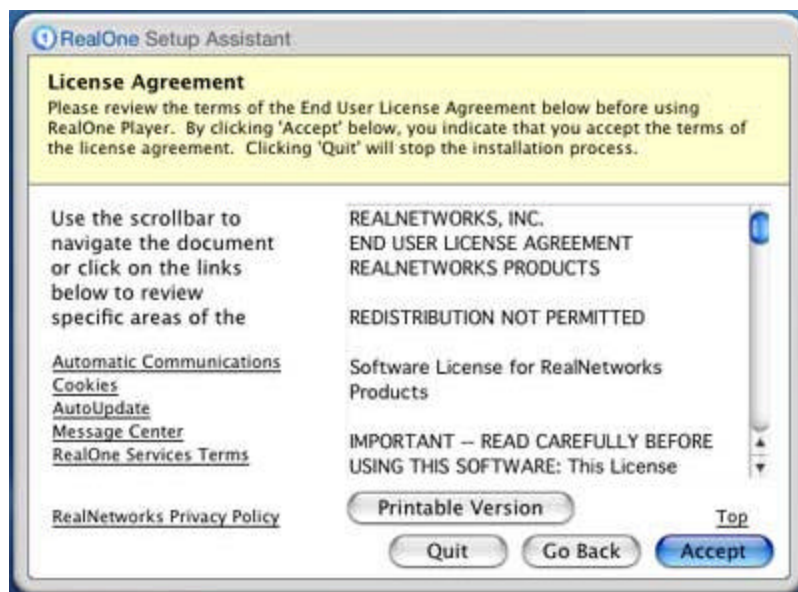

The Setup program will launch and tell you that it is going to install RealOne.

Click Continue.

The installer will give you a chance to read the Release Notes. You should uninstall previous versions of RealPlayer before continuing.

Click Continue when ready.

To install the software, you must accept the End User License Agreement. Read the agreement and click Accept to continue.

If you do not accept the agreement, click Quit. Setup will end and the installation will not be complete.

Select your connection speed. For optimum performance, select DSL/Cable/T1 and click Continue.

You have the option of streaming media with RealOne by default. To accept these settings, click Continue.

If you do not wish to use RealOne as your default for these options, uncheck the boxes and then click Continue.

RealOne requests you enter the email address and password you provided when downloading the software.

Either click Later or enter the info you provided and click Sign In.

RealOne is now installed and ready for use.

An introduction will play to verify that your settings are correct.
